Trumpet, Inc. Releases Symphony Suite™ for Worldox®

Software and consulting firm releases complete imaging solution for law firms who use the Worldox document management system.

Phoenix, AZ – November 17, 2011 – Trumpet, Inc., a leading software and consulting firm to the legal and financial industries, releases a complete imaging solution for the Worldox document management system (DMS). The new product, called Symphony Suite™, combines the features of two popular software programs offered by the company.

Currently both software products, Symphony Profiler™ and Symphony OCR™, are heavily used within the legal industry under their former names, Express Profile™ and Maestro OCR™. These products have been heralded by users for reducing the time associated with scanning and filing documents, eliminating lines at the scanner, improving accessibility to electronic documents, and allowing professional staff to focus on billable activities.

“Over the years we’ve enhanced these two products based on user recommendations,” says Joanne Day, president of Trumpet, Inc. “We’ve made our most exciting improvements this year and have chosen to release the enhanced products together, offering law firms a single imaging solution.”

When used in relation to a document management system, the term ‘imaging’ refers to two primary functions: the process of getting paper documents scanned and properly filed into the DMS, and OCR’ing these documents so that they can be fully indexed by the search engine. “Symphony Suite streamlines what was previously several time-consuming tasks to the push of one button,” continued Day.
